WANT TO PERFORM DATA
ANALYSIS ON FINANCIAL DATA?

Top Libraries To Use Financial Data

Check out the list of Python Libraries $\longrightarrow$

Content by Akshay R Toshniwal

Yahoo Finance

You can use and extract financial information of stock, funds, and other corporate information through Yahoo Finance. The data is fetched from the finance.yahoo.com website

To install and use it, follow the command:
pip install yfinance

→

Investing.com

Investing.com is one of the biggest sources to find and analyze financial data and information. It enables the user to search the website data as well.

To install and use it, follow the command:
pip install investpy

→

Kite by Zerodha

Zerodha is one of the biggest brokerage firms in India, providing user seamless experience of investing and trading. Their trading platform, Kite, has an API that can be linked with Python easily.

To install and use it, follow the command:
pip install kiteconnect

Quandl

Quandl is a platform by NASDAQ and it provides a lot of financial data which can be used for data analysis purposes. This requires to create an account on the website and create an API key

To install and use it, follow the command:
pip install quandl

Useful Information?

Feel free to save and share the post

For more tech updates and insightful posts,
you can follow me

in AKSHAYTOSHNIWAL